starting point to make typically the mamajuana is normally cleaning the moistureless items as well as eliminating the poisonous types for this root base, tree bark and leaves. Therefore, when making management decisions with regard to procedures that require animal restraint, the potential for handling stress and how it is influenced by age should be considered.